HUDSON VALLEY LIGHTING

Curves No. 1

Designer, author, and founder of his namesake studio, Mark D. Sikes brings his signature blend of classic elegance and relaxed sophistication to his collection with Hudson Valley Lighting. Inspired by the cultural heritage and effortless lifestyles of the California coast and British countryside, the collection reinterprets traditional forms through a fresh, modern lens. Thoughtful details—woven rattan, refined metalwork, and his iconic blue-and-white palette—translate his timeless aesthetic into lighting that feels both familiar and renewed, designed to elevate everyday interiors with enduring style.

CORTNEY BISHOP

HUDSON VALLEY LIGHTING

Cortney Bishop's collection with Hudson Valley Lighting is a celebration of heritage, craftsmanship, and retro influence. Raw natural silk, delicate perforations, and bold scale showcase an artisanal approach, while earthy finishes—heritage bronze, gradient brass, and verdigris—add depth and patina. Both playful and refined, each piece is designed to inspire creativity and bring a soulful, sophisticated warmth to interiors.

AUGUSTA HOFFMAN

HUDSON VALLEY LIGHTING

The Augusta Hoffman Studio collection for Hudson Valley Lighting is a study in quiet elegance, where sculptural form meets soulful detail. Rooted in a reverence for vintage design reimagined through a modern lens, each piece reflects her nuanced interior sensibility. Designed to feel both grounded and enduring, this is lighting that lives effortlessly within a space—casting a soft glow, anchoring a room, and feeling as though it has always belonged.

LOFT & THOUGHT

TROY LIGHTING

Artist and vintage curator Carmen Nash brings a deeply personal perspective shaped by spirituality, heritage, and her experience as a Black Southern artist. Through her brand, Loft & Thought, she weaves storytelling into design, creating pieces that evoke emotion and connection. Her collection for Troy Lighting reimagines folk art narratives through sculptural, portable forms—celebrating the belief that storytelling is what binds us to the objects we love.

CHANDLER MCLELLAN

TROY LIGHTING

Chandler McLellan brings an artistic and deeply personal perspective to his debut collection with Troy Lighting. Inspired by the rugged landscapes of Scotland—where his journey as a woodworker began—his designs merge organic forms with refined craftsmanship. Each piece, named after a Scottish locale, reflects the quiet strength and enduring beauty of its surroundings, resulting in lighting that feels warm, sculptural, and effortlessly approachable.

NOZ NOZAWA
CORBETT

San Francisco-based Noz Design is known for creating immersive interiors that feel layered, personal, and collected over time. Merging Noz Nozawa's acclaimed interior design practice with her passion for jewelry design, this collection explores the intersection of adornment and illumination. The result is a series of pieces that feel expressive, intricate, and deeply narrative—where two art forms collide to create something entirely new, enriched by organic textures and subtle references to the natural world.

MONIOMI
CORBETT

This striking collaboration between Corbett Lighting and Miami-based design studio MONIOMI brings a bold yet balanced design language to lighting. Known for their layered, emotionally expressive approach, MONIOMI draws on architectural forms, natural materials, and the atmospheric quality of light. Each piece is designed not only to illuminate, but to anchor, frame, and define a space with intention and elegance.

MEGAN MOLTEN
mitzi

Charleston-based interior designer Megan Molten is celebrated for her signature “Lowcountry Luxe” aesthetic—airy, modern spaces infused with coastal influence. Her collection with Mitzi reflects this sensibility through organic forms, natural materials, and thoughtfully considered color. Effortlessly blending refinement with ease, each piece brings a fresh, relaxed sophistication to the home.

ZOE FELDMAN
mitzi

Zoe Feldman Design is known for its fresh, modern interpretation of classic design principles. With a perspective shaped by art, fashion, and architecture, Zoe creates interiors that feel both playful and refined. Her lighting collection reflects this balance—combining whimsical silhouettes, bold color, and thoughtful detailing with a sense of timelessness, resulting in pieces that feel personal, expressive, and sophisticated.

Janie

Mandy Cheng brings a sense of memory, connection, and California ease to her lighting designs. Inspired by nature's colors, textures, and forms, her collection features soft curves, tassel details, wood accents, and pillowy silhouettes. Designed with versatility in mind, these pieces can make a statement or seamlessly integrate into everyday life—bringing balance, warmth, and understated elegance to any space.

HILARY MATT
mitzi

New York-based designer Hilary Matt brings her signature blend of bold form and effortless livability to her collection with Mitzi. Voluminous silhouettes and circular motifs are paired with richly tactile materials—from chiseled beech wood and nubby textiles to woven basketry and frosted glass. Designed to fill a gap she often encountered in her own projects, each piece delivers statement-making impact with an approachable, functional, and distinctly modern sensibility.
